Welcome To Grant Mr. Adams....

"Thank you, Shield Staff, for this welcome. It is truly a pleasure to have been transferred to U. S. Grant High School as principal. Long ago, just after its opening, I had inner thoughts, day dreams if you wish, that happiness was being assigned to Grant. Little did I think such an honor would happen. It has! I trust all of you will give me my moments regaling in these pleasures.

"A school does not just grow. People, administrators, teachers, students and its supportive community, cause it to become an entity--a being with character. If any one factor is weak the body cannot reach far toward its potential. Our strong staff, certificated and classified, competent students, our viable community all have combined to create Grant into the challenging school that it is.

"We can all be proud being a member of this great family."

Herman Adams

Yesterday is gone... forget it.

Tomorrow's going to come,
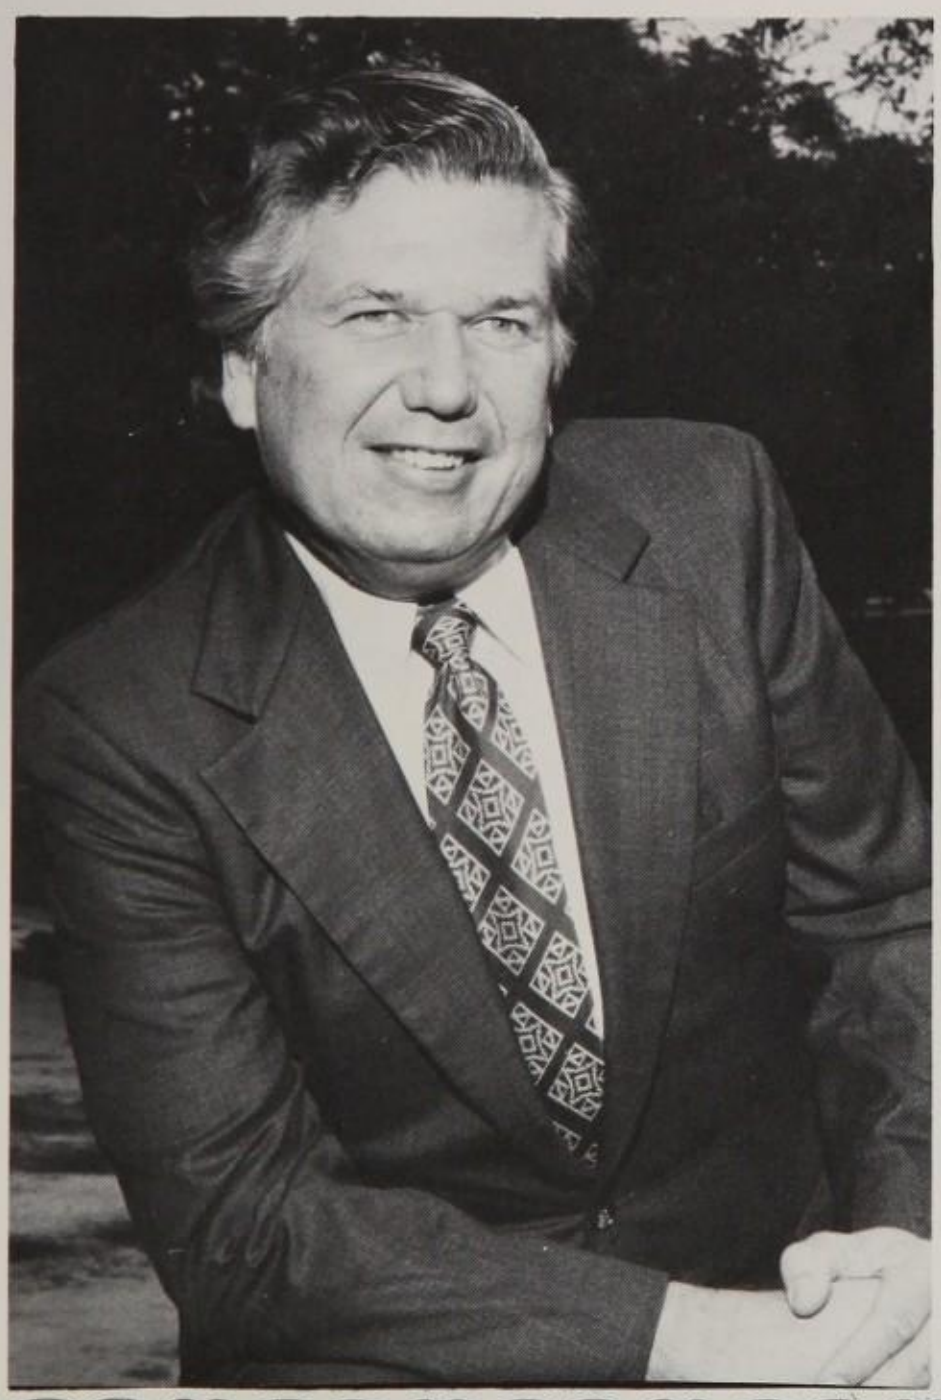
.....so let it.

Today is.
Today is.
Today is.

Mrs. Shirley Woo-Girls' VP

Mr. Leo Davis-Boys' VP



"U.S. Grant High School has come of age. During this past year the students of Grant have shown a new spirit and enthusiasm through an acceptance of maturity and responsibility. At times it has been difficult for students and staff to accept the changes which have taken place, but I feel we have now emerged into a new environment and a new education."

And he is quite ugly
And everywhere my body goes

THE MAGIC MUSHROOM

PRE...

The scent of burning leaves
Little people laughing for lack of cause
Danton heard every character of music
Colors-Lights
So vivid and bright
His substance lost in hollow vague

...the odd sibilation and gentle current of flowing titillation Danton perpetuated into eidetic imagery
A drifting numbness unfolded his energy level
Mesmerizing the physical protoplasm

Perplexity astonished young Danton
For the haze of euphoric sensation
And its encompassing two entities
So separate as Body and Mind
Bestowed a perception of retrospect
And futurity to him
Consciousness-
The eminent element of mental depth

POST...

Danton saw obscure friends
In the Woods of the West
Waving their hands in blue coats
And giant red hats
Paying for cheap songs of "Melancholy"
He said, "Who are you?"

Danton understood them
Yet he did not understand
His mind was engulfed in slender cows
Who sat in booths
On the farm of Donalds

Danton journeyed with two other
Discoverers of the Synthetic Illusion
In Mik's pale ashen wagen
To the "Point of Doom"
Standing on the beach
Three friends aimlessly watched the crashing
Their feet imprinted in the naked sand

Danton viewed the "noom" and the passing hues Outlining the crystal clouds
A beam of luminous light cast upon
The ripples of the sea

And then...
Danton perceived Death
In the tubelike emptiness of the Black abyss of rolling water
His companions told:
"Frighten not"
"For that is beauty"
And he was no longer scared

End Near-
They ventured in and out
Of the force of nature
The windshield glowing and glistening
From the many droplets of rain
Danton lay back
His mind at rest
And whispered
"Yes"

D.N.

I Have A Friend Who Never Laughs

I have a friend who never laughs,
A strange and silent man
Who speaks to only a few...
And rarely.
He follows the fog
Stands on high hills
Drifts along the ocean
Walks among rocks
And disappears in eerie caves
Or he wanders along the river
Where the cold air
Makes the children shiver
And when I asked him why he never laughs,
He said that nothing was very funny anymore.

THE ZESTY PEST

The zesty pest said to the rest,
"Someday I'll make a nest, and pretend I'm a bird in a herd of kurds and live the rest of my life in a banana."

Horrell and Erickson

I thank GOD for my life

But right now I'm pretty upset

I've heard alot of bad things said about GOD lately

I don't see how anyone could reject the love and happiness he offers

GOD didn't create guns

GOD didn't create war

GOD didn't create smog

GOD didn't create lies

GOD didn't create hate

GOD created the world and all the good life upon it

Man did the rest

Judee
it's been nice knowing and getting used to you this past year. Good luck and I wish the best to you in the future in all you do. Lots of love
"Huffy" (2.3)

Reminiscing

My life is over and I remember,
The days I spent in cold December.
My body was cold, my life was ending,
But I sat still, quietly mending,
When suddenly my body began to shiver and shake,
And I couldn't control it, I couldn't fake
The way I felt, and my husband knew,
The time had come, the sky turned blue.

Now in spring as I lay in the earth,
I look back on life and remember my birth.
My parents were happy, the weather was clear,
And all of their friends came from far and from near
To see the new member in her sparkling pink crib,
With kisses spilled over her brand new bib.

As the seasons flew by and life quickly passed,
I no longer cared how long I would last,
For my body was healthy, my spirits were high,
I never thought once that I'd someday die.

I wasted those beautiful, precious last years,
And now I look back with sadness and tears,
For all that I did was rush and work hard,
To buy brand new clothes and a big fancy car.
My neighbors were jealous but I did not care,
I was hooked on a habit that wasn't too rare.
My habit was work, and all that I did
Was to work hard for money so that I could rid My closet of clothes, my garage of old cars,
I wanted to stop but I went too far.

Now it's too late and all I have left,
Is memories of cars, clothes and debts.
Oh God please forgive me, for all I have done,
For you gave me life, and yet I had none.

Special are we that can hear the call of the sea.
In her silence she beckons to us,
And we are free to come.
Willingly, we challenge her crashing anger
And submit to her inconsistency.
Yet, sails spread, we conquer her boundless waters,
Sharing in the sea's magnificent strength.
Our souls embody the proud spirit of the waves.

Yes, we that heed the call of the sea are special.
We are a part of her silent world,
And only when we face the challenge of her everchanging moods
Are we at home.

Life Is . . .

Life is like a sandcastle. You'll start building it up and a little falls apart. You start to build it up again. This time you get higher, but something happens. Some part of it loosens and falls apart. It happens many times until the water comes up and washes it away, when you're at your highest point.

Who Will Make the City Joyful

Who will make the city joyful
Can sometime really wipe away its tears?
'Vho will fill the streets with gladness?
'Vho will make their clear eyes gleam?
'Vho will keep the men from killing?
'Vho will calm the old folks' fears?

Maybe twenty thousand minstrels
Twenty thousand poet's words
Maybe fifty thousand dancers
Maybe clowns and talking birds
Flowers on all city's corners
Trees on all city streets
A sweet fragrance from the sewers
Sing-alongs in subway seats.

Maybe buses painted purple,
Maybe no more numbered days
Bells that ring in all buildings

Maybe honest politicians
Radicals and angry screams
Maybe socialists and Marxists
Maybe silent men who dream
Maybe shoppers loving muggers

Who will sit among the concrete gutters
And have the guts to look up
Maybe mothers loving babies
Maybe gentle eyes that see
Or beyond the other maybes
Maybe you and maybe me.

Bruce Horowitz

QUESTION POEM?

What's in a name I ask you?
What does it really mean?
Does it tell if you are out of it?
Or if you are on the scene?

Is it a name that makes you Dumb?
Or short, fat, skinny, or tall?
Is it a name that makes you fun?
Or does it stand for anything at all?

Is a John better than a Melvin?
Or a Gertrude better than a Sue?
Does a name get you on Television?
Or does it put you in the Zoo?

In some cases yes...
In some cases no...
Who can really answer?
But in most cases
If you're called Buddy Ballerina
You're usually a pretty good dancer.

Steve Siler

THE CONTINUING GUNFIGHT

It was Five O'clock

on that very block

when the two men appeared whom every man feared.

The man in black

looked behind his back,

while the man in white hoped he was in the right

both men felt their guns which to them weighed like two tons the air was very humid and hot and the man in black fired a shot.

Red on white in the sun and in his hand was his gun.

The man in black knew he'd win and so he made a devilish grin.

It was Five O'clock

on that very block

when the two appeared

whom every man feared.

The man in black who always looked behind his back.

THE CARROT'S FRIEND

There once was a parrot

the rabbits were poor and wanted to munch the carrot, but none would dare it.

If you are a carrot there is no better friend than a parrot.

MILES BY
His name was mike,
he rode a bike.
He went very far but was hit by a car.

Friends

Time spent with old friends
Patterns from loose ends.
Years so quickly melted,
Roads somehow winding
Back again to friends.

Down many roads traveled on
You have changed like a song
Carried by a river,
Sung by many hearts,
But still somehow the same.

Are you happy?
Have you learned?
Has life been good to those you love?
Has love warmed your heart?

I hope to see you soon again.
On your journey, love I'll send
To keep you warm and happy.
For times may come, and times may go
But you, my friend, I'll always know your name.

Nancy Core

A smile feels of you to see you is to smile

To be with you together for forever

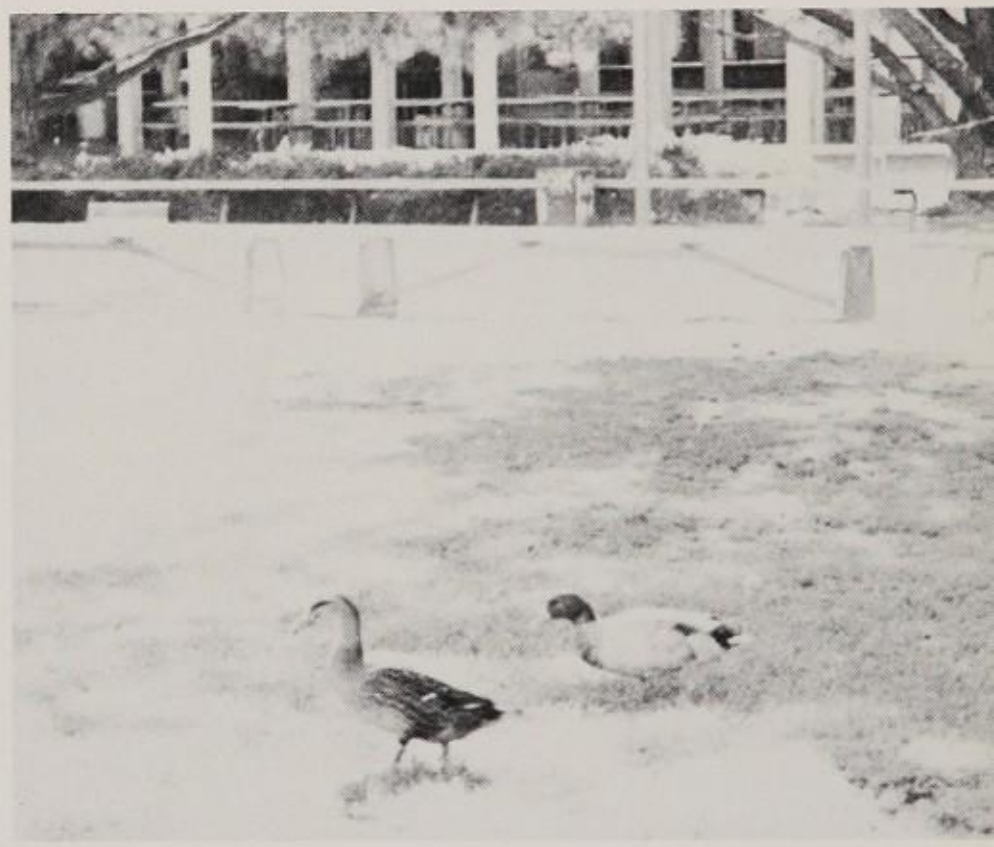
for awhile.

Seth Kaplan



Dear Judi,
It was really too bad
we didn't stay as good friends as we were before I hope you have a good summer and Good Luck in the years to come Take Care
Love

SPORTS

With all my heart do I admire
Athletes who sweat for fun or hire,
Who take the field in gaudy pomp
And maim each other as they romp;
My limp and bashful spirit feeds
On other people's heroic deeds.

One infant grows up and becomes a jockey,
Another plays basketball or hockey,
This one the prize ring hastes to enter,
That one becomes a tackle or center.
I'm just as glad as glad can be
That I'm not them, that they're not me.

JOE ATHLETE

There was a boy named Joe
Who was a great athlete.
No matter what he competed in,
He never suffered defeat.

In Baseball he was a pitcher,
A strike came on every toss.
When good ol' Joe was on the mound
Opponents were sure for a loss.
His batting average was the best
The league had ever known,
And every time I turned around
Joe had made it home.

In Football he was a quarterback.
He threw many touchdown passes.
When good ol' Joe was on the field,
The crowds showed up in masses.
On defense he forced fumbles
And interceptions, too.
Whenever a clutch play was needed,
Joe would always come through.

In Hockey he was a Goalie
Who never made a mistake.
His perpetually brilliant goalieship
Gave foes a big headache.
He stopped the puck in every case,
No matter how good the shot.
And when I'd call good ol' Joe immortal, He'd grin and say, "No, I'M not."

In basketball Joe was the best,
He led the league in scoring.
In fact, Joe scored so many points
That all the games were boring.
He sped up and down the court,
Outrebounded everyone.
His passes were great, his dribbling superb,
Watching him was really fun.

Then Joe took up Karate,
And that was a blunder for him.
Cause when he tried to split a chair,
He split the ground too, and fell in!

Joe rewrote the record books
And folks speak of him still
The moral of the story is: Know you own Strength--Unless you want to get killed.

-Steve Siler

PERFORMANCE

Piano's progression is still Smoked filled room empty
Tables and chairs sit unorderly
The band is long gone

Lights dimmed
Audience silent
Spot focused
He sits-head in aged hands

Waiting and deliberating
Knows not why
The taxi isn't coming Nowhere to get home to

Head raises
Hands soaked with perspiration
Taking two steps
Left end stage

A performance
Benefit for himself
Hopeful gain of confidence
He almost speaks

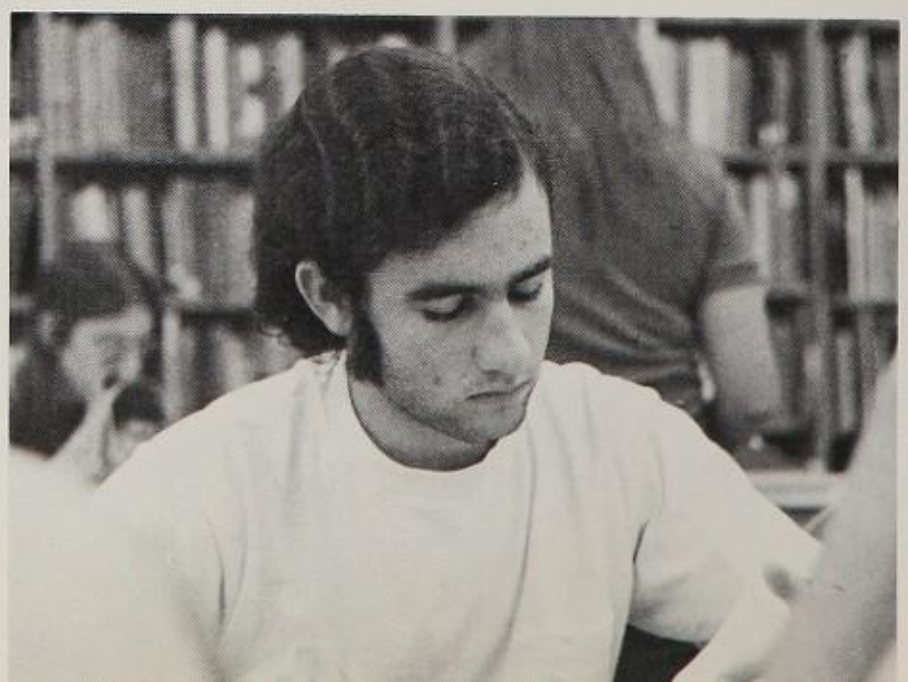
Muttering something
He cries and laughs, walking off
Behind the curtain into the darkness
Unable to begin or end

Entering the alleyway
Talks to himself
Taking the red handkerchief
Wipes away tears

A cat meows
He enters the park
Climbing the stairs of the Gazebo
He begins to sing to the beautiful nite

Alone and unappreciated
For trees cannot applaude
Squirrels sleep
He sits-head in aged hands

Cory Tynan



BY CLOCKWORK

The clock runs round no more
Batteries worn dead
A black diffused wall socket
The mechanism beats in silence

Hands have paused
Geared wheels fixed in a notch
Tiny springs indefinitely recoiled
The seconds suspended

Dreary days offset by power failure
The perpetual uniformity disarranged
Malfunctioned system
G.E. Company perspires

Tired multitudes on Monday morning
Concrete pathways exist alone
Assembly lines stand at attention
Forgotten alarms and roosters

The sun made diverse
Perhaps the essence of timepieces
Periods are trite
Time is truly dead sound

The nonsensical invention
Machine's machine
Conceived by rhymes and parallels
Those fearing entombment

12:59-The mouse suffers fatigue
A regular 1:00 bit for 200 years
"Hickory-Dickory-Dock"
It stopped

MAN'S DESTINY

Life is taking the first breath of air
Life is feeling your mother there
Love that will start you on your way
Learning the difference of night and day
Life is

Life is going to school the first time
Life is making a friend and being kind
Love is giving your heart to another
Learning to walk with your brother
Life is

And life is experiencing problems
Learning how to deal with them
And life is finding the beauty
Knowing the best things are real

Life is preparing for our world
Life is meeting the right girl
Learning how to open up all the doors
Life is going to war

THE REASON FOR LIFE AND OTHER JAUNDICE

Life is a drag.
My Mother
is a nag.
My Aunt Bernice
living with us,
is a hag.
Her son,
Cousin Jimmy,
is definitely a fag.
My Brother
thinks I'm a punching bag.
So why live?
So I can take another drag on my cigar ette.
It's great,
you bet.
And now,
even about that,
they say,
"You'd better approach it with stealth, for it is harmful to your health."
WHAT NEXT?
Perhaps I'll awake one day and find myself chained to a geometry text.
It's great,
you bet.
